ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

"System and Method for Issuing Negotiable Instruments by Licensed Money Transmitter from Direct Deposits"

Systems and methods for issuing negotiable instruments by a non-bank entity such as a Licensed Money Transmitter, from direct deposits to a regulated financial institution. A customer arranges for direct deposit of funds to a regulated financial institution, such as a bank, that can receive direct deposits. When a direct deposit of funds into an account associated with the customer at the regulated financial institution is detected, the funds are swept into a second, transaction account maintained by the Licensed Money Transmitter. The customer requests issuance of a negotiable instrument from the Licensed Money Transmitter for withdrawing funds or directing that payments be made. The Licensed Money Transmitter, which maintains a network of agent terminals at various locations for disbursing funds to authorized recipients, is responsive to the request for a negotiable instrument for issuing a prepaid negotiable instrument or making payments for the benefit of the customer.
